Dear Sir:

The attached material was sent express mail on December 26, 2003 addressed to Mail Stop – Non Fee Patent Amendment. In the event that this address was incorrect, this attached material is resubmitted by express mail on January 12, 2004.

On 12/23/03, the undersigned received a copy of the above identified Notice of Abandonment, CERTIFICATION No. 4267, stating that a Notice to File Missing Parts mailed on 01/22/2002 was mailed to applicant and no reply was received. A copy of the Notice is attached.

The undersigned mailed the above identified application as an express mail package [E7760486694US] on 12/18/01 and had carefully reviewed all proper documents that were included in the package.

I attach a copy of the utility patent application transmittal form listing all of the application elements which were included in the package and identifying the express mailing.

I received a return postcard from the Office acknowledging proper receipt of all filed documents. I attach a copy of the return postcard. This receipt clearly acknowledges that the Patent Office received all proper documents as listed on the postcard. If parts of the application were missing, the Patent Office should have issued a Notice to File Missing Parts rather than authenticating proper filing by sending out the return post card.

I subsequently received Confirmation No. 4267 Filing Receipt bearing mailing date of 01/22/2002 copy attached. This document confirms the proper filing accepted on the return post card and bears the mailing date of 01/22/2002. This mailing date is identical to the Notice to File Missing Parts that the Confirmation Letter states was mailed on 01/22/02 to the undersigned. on the same date. Clearly Confirmation No 4267 Filing Receipt and the mailing date given to the Notice of Missing Parts are identical and are inherently contradictory. How could the Patent Office issue the Filing Receipt document and confirm that all parts of the application had been properly received and on the same date issue the Notice of Missing Parts?

Applicant assumes that for some reason the Notice to File Missing Parts was never properly mailed. In any event, he never received it and cannot respond to it because he does not know what parts are missing.

In fact, applicant submits that the attachments described and attached above confirm his position that the application was complete in every detail when filed and perhaps some parts of the application were misplaced or improperly filed after receipt in the Office.

Applicant will of course furnish copies of what ever parts have been found missing once he is informed as to what copies are needed. However, applicant respectfully submits that the Notice of Abandonment should be withdrawn and that this application should be restored to pending status so that an appropriate action can be issued by the Office once the Office file is complete.

Respectfully submitted,
